about us

AC:ME : about us

motivated to share art and knowledge with all!

The Art Collection: Mobile Exhibition seeks to increase accessibility, visibility, and student engagement with the Bishop's University Art Collection. By providing a digital platform for mobile devices accessible either by QR codes installed in exhibition sites, as well as a straightforward desktop format for reference, we hope to encourage student awareness and involvement with the university's holdings, as well as encourage interest about the artistic practices of the Eastern Townships.

The project was first conceived in winter 2024, as a team assignment for a course in digital history. The founding team, Youri Ladouceur, Max Lamontagne, Nolan Shane, and Sam Kipp (pictured, clockwise from upper left) were an interdisciplinary and ambitious group, with majors in computer science, education, and art history. AC:ME is the product of great communication, hard work, and persistent ambitions!
